November 2017

Kindergarten Classes

Kindergarten classes will kick off November with Spookley again. This time Spookley is looking for a “pumpkin” family but discovers all the fruits and vegetables in the garden are his family. A Turkey for Thanksgiving is our next adventure. Mrs. Moose wants a turkey for Thanksgiving but not to eat. She wants turkey to join them for Thanksgiving dinner but turkey doesn’t know it. We end November with Turkey Trouble. Poor Turkey discovers he is supposed to be Thanksgiving Dinner. He needs to solve this problem. We have been dancing to Super Simple Songs and my classes love it. They keep asking if we can do just one more song☺.

First Grade Classes

The month of November is all about Farmer Joe and three silly turkeys named Cassie, Wing, and Ollie. These turkeys do everything from having turkey races to saving the chickens from the fox. Those three turkeys are very, very silly so I expect the library will be rocking with laughter. We end our month with a visit from our friend Gilbert. This time he is headed to Pilgrim Town in We Gather Together...Now Please Get Lost!.

Second Grade Classes

We will begin November reading Mr. President Goes to School. Mr. President is tired of being president so he escapes to school and recess. Brad Sneed, the illustrator of the book, lives in Overland Park, KS. We will move onto a heart-warm story called Turkey Bowl. I’m sure it will be a hit with all my football fans. We are going to read our first in a series of memoirs entitled Memoirs of Goldfish. We will end November and begin December with Memoirs of Hamster. This series of memoirs are a second grade favorite and bring bouts of laughter.
